The Commander Staff of 1954 dedicates this book to Mr. Riby Holmes. A friend of everyone at Fowlerville, he receives with this dedication our warm appreciation for the many unselfish things he has done for all of us.

School begins at 8:45 and the students of Fowlerville High School begin their school day studying, writing, and sometimes dreaming...

The proximity of the grade school brings the high school students closer to the younger people. The lunch hour for the high school follows that of the grades on a close time schedule.

At 3:30 the doors are flung open and the students pour out every door. Rural residents climb aboard the different buses or drive home. The "town kids" usually set out walking.

The fashion-conscious youths of today are represented by Joe Showerman and Jimmy Munsell. Exhibited above are leather and suede leather jackets, pegged slacks, and black shoes.

Athletics are most everyone's pastime, either as player or spectator. Above are a group of fans at a reserve football game.

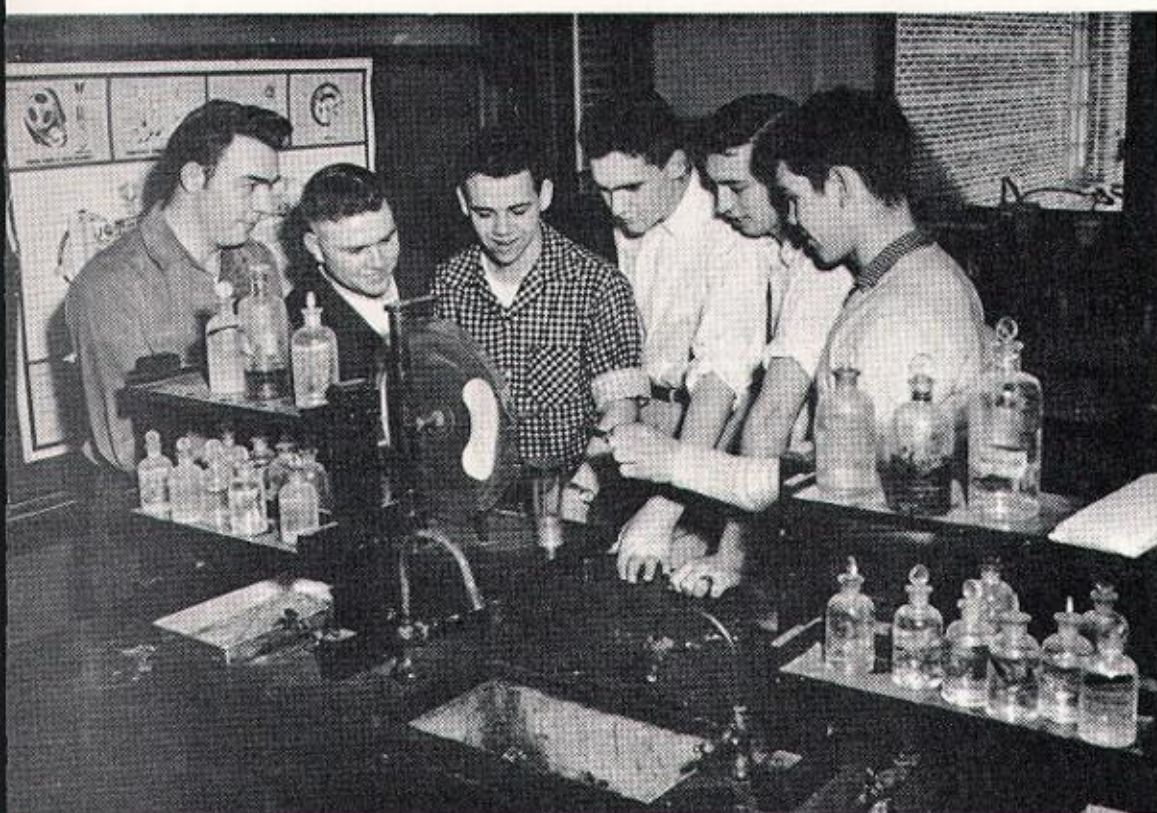

One of the newest courses in the growing school system is the shop, located in the old building.

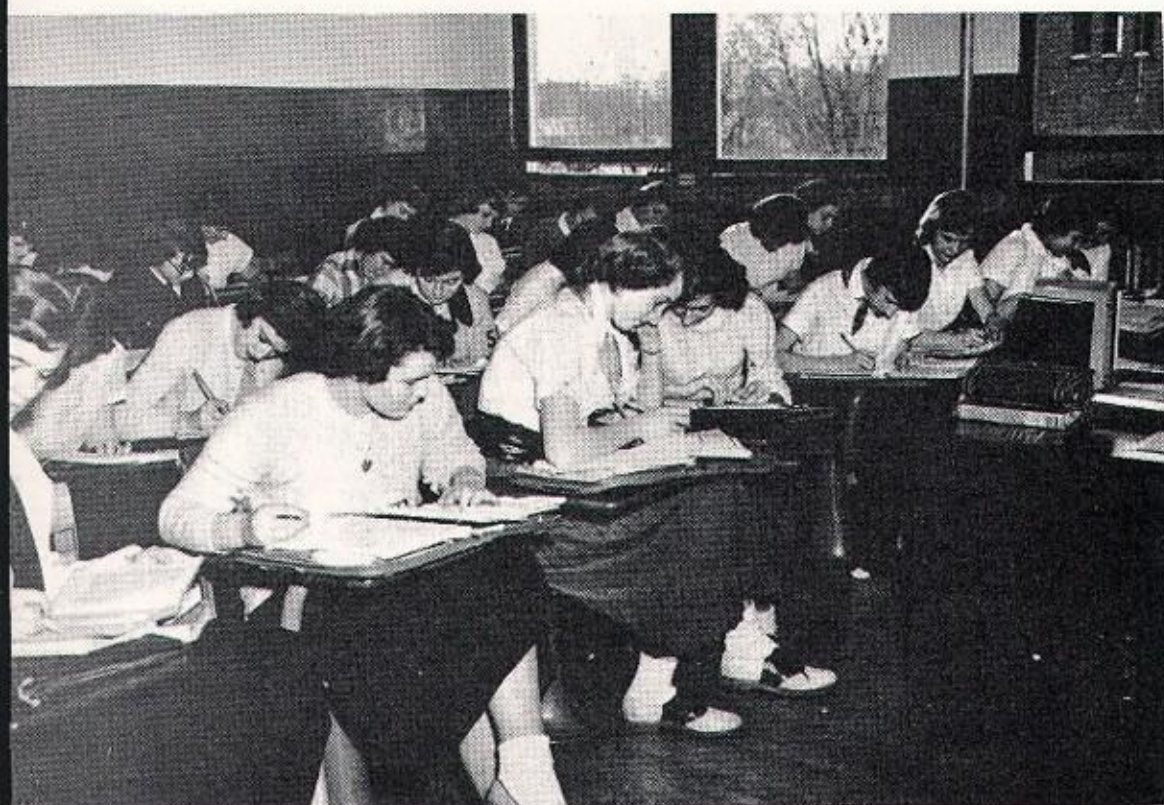

Mathematics brings out pencil chewing and ceiling gazing from everyone. Trig class proves this.

Perhaps the biggest daily task accomplished in school is the hot lunch program, shown above.

Any future scientists here? A portion of the physics class performs an experiment.

Because eighth hour takes many of the boys for athletics, this class is composed mostly of girls.

In a rural school the vocational courses are the largest single unit in school. Above sophomore agriculture students test milk. Right the freshmen home ec. valentine luncheon.

"Golden Gloves" Lance Wright works out.

The "Pep Band" performs at a pep rally.

Gary Wakefield gives an encouraging speech to the students assembled at a football pep rally. Most of the football team sit together at these assemblies.

The teachers have their fun too. A pair of "dolls" model the latest women's fashions. Mr. Miller, left, and Mr. Wellington, right, display the "latest" styles.

Faculty meetings can be made pleasurable and the teachers at F.H.S. do just that with their informal gatherings.

SCHOOL BOARD: Sherman Lillywhite, Fred Anderson, Cecil Lepard, Edward Zimmerman, Harry Elliott, Superintendent, John Munn.

John Wellington, High School Principal.

Fowlerville Community Schools, a new name adopted this year, is administered by the school board, comprised of private citizens, and a capable staff of professional administrators. The expanding system requires careful co-operation among all those connected with the school and the citizens of the community. The results can be gaged by the citizens of tomorrow, the students of today.

Perhaps not the biggest undertaking of the seniors, but certainly the most fun, was the freshman initiation. A freshman is made to recite a simple pledge to some eagerly listening senior boys.

It appears that all the seniors did was try to make money for their spring trip to New York, but if that's true they had a lot of fun and a lot of work doing it.

A glance at what they had to offer for sale at the football games.

Hendred Lucas decides to try a bag of the seniors popcorn. Carolyn Cook and Ronnie Rife make the sale.

Carol Mockbee and Janet Osborne prepare a pleasing display for a bake-sale at Tomion's dairy.

Larry Davids provides music for the seniors at "work" on the stand operated at all the home games.

The class of 1954 finished their high school preparation and went out on their own at the close of this year. This book should help them to recall a little of what they did when they were in high school.

A view of the tidy interior of the successful stand run by the juniors at the 1953 Fowlerville Fair.

The juniors had a busy year with their stand, dances and other activities. The Junior-Senior Reception climaxed the year for the hard working class.

Beatrice Cameron shows where a few of those profits went at the stand.

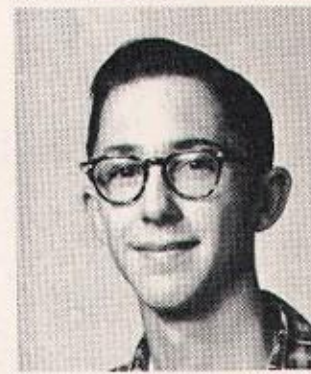

Night time brought a large crowd that kept Jenell House busy.

F. F. A.

The F.F.A. had 57 active members in their chapter. Two new honorary members, Mr. George Tait, local bander, and Mr. John Wellington, high school principal, were added this year. Lanny Wallace, Ted Miller and L. Roy Glover attended the three day regional F.F.A. leadership training camp at Higgin's Lake held in April.

The hog chain switched to one breed, Duroc-Jersey, and began with three pigs. During the summer of 1953, 14 acres of wheat were harvested averaging forty bushels per acre. A part of the money from this project was used to purchase a cultivator and a fertilizer side-dresser. A second-hand disk with which to work the orchard was purchased also.

This year the Fowlerville parliamentary procedure team, Ted Miller, Lanny Wallace, Jim Timmerman, George Faust, Larain Antcliff, and Larry Oliver; the Farm Forum Team, Don Klein, Lee Mascho, Hendren Lucas, Ronnie Rife, L. Roy Glover, and Larry Davids; and the speech representative, Bob Cyr; were chosen to represent the district at the regional contest, each receiving a "gold" rating. In the regional contest held at Chesaning the parliamentary procedure team and the speaker received "gold" ratings and were chosen to represent the regional at the state contest.

In the state contest Bob Cyr received a silver rating, and the parliamentary procedure team with a gold rating was rated second in the state.

ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

The Assembly Committee, composed of a member from each class, represented the student body to select assemblies throughout the school year.

They secured five professional assemblies which were put on before the students during the year.

The Pied Piper Puppets, which was an annual favorite, presented a show which was based on Columbus's voyage to the new world.

A Russian refugee, John Shiraef told the students about the conditions and customs of Russia.

Perhaps the most entertaining and educational assembly of the year was given by Ken Smith, master in the field of artistry. His drawings in different styles pleased everyone.

Besides the professional assemblies the students put on a number of programs that exhibited the local talent. The Y-Teens had a program which poked a little fun at television. The student body presented a Christmas assembly which proved to be quite clever and original.

J - HOP

The class of 1954 honored the class of 1953 by a banquet and dance, the annual Junior and Senior Reception. The gym was beautifully decorated as a pleasure ship.

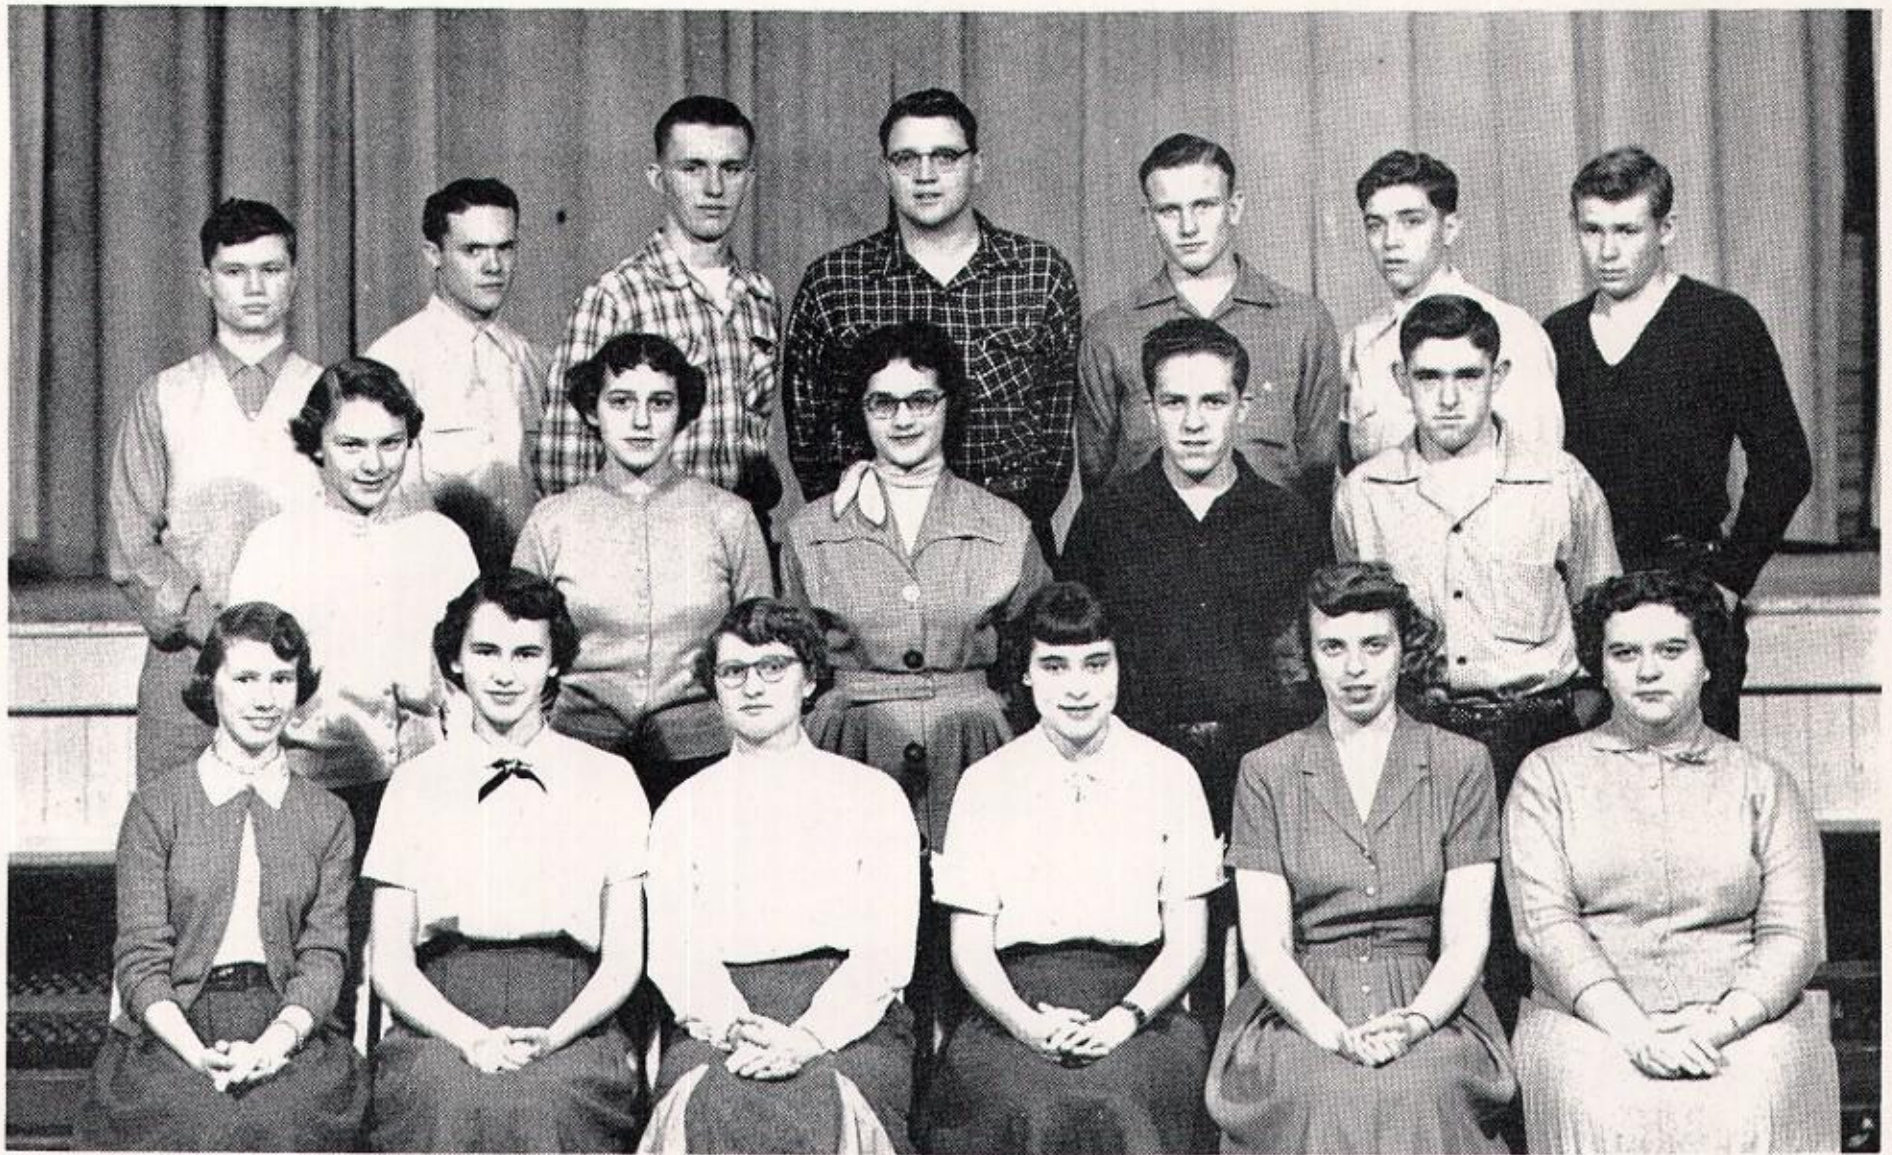

Mr. Donald Kuney, retiring principal, was the guest speaker. He gave an inspiring talk to the graduating class.

The dance, held on the main "deck" was very successful, and everyone in attendance had a fine time.
